Developing Regional Planning Within the Framework of Decentralized Management Program – The Jordanian Experience

Abstract

The study is aimed at the description and analysis of the Jordanian effort in the field of developing regional planning within the framework of decentralized management program, which is considered as one of the preliminary prerequisites for the implementation and success of this sort of planning.

It was found out that Jordan took important steps in the field of implementing decentralized management, but these steps are yet not enough to establish active planning . Problems yet exist in spite of the clarification of the goals this planning aims to achieve . These problems are covered by the nature of the relationship between decentralized management and their levels ranging from weak to medium decentralisation.

In spite of the official attitude to more implementation of decentralized management policies, yet plenty of these are still theoretical and await implementation . Any progress and success due to implementation of decentralized management policies undoubtedly indicate more active role for planning and regional development in the life of people in different parts of the kingdom. Hence it is necessary to proceed further in implementing decentralized management policies gradually and continuously to control any unexpected side-effects which might emerge from the implementation of such policies.
